

Steve Hasenmueller

Keynote Speaker, Sales Trainer, & Author

Steve has spoken to companies worldwide on all topics . . .
regarding Effective Selling, Motivation, and Leadership

Steve Hasenmueller writes and speaks about what it takes for businesses and employees to THRIVE in the demanding and ever-changing marketplace. With over 35 years' experience of front line selling, Steve has traveled consistently over 100 days a year working with Companies in the US, Canada, and Europe. He has conducted Seminars and Keynotes in 9 countries reaching thousands of people. His challenging and uplifting messages of PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY, ACCOUNTABILITY, and EFFORT, along with real life solutions to improvement, will resonate with anyone trying to improve their personal lives through their work. After 30 years on the road in Sales, Steve decided to retire from that role and devote full time efforts to Speaking, Training, Writing and Philanthropy, with his next book due out in November 2024.

His Cycle of Effort Workshops and Transformational Sales Process Live events help develop Sales Skills to a new level.

He currently resides in Belize with his wife Jane, author of The Grief of Wisdom.

CLICK HERE FOR A SNEAK PEEK of my new books subject matter.

"I've worked hard on my preparation and presentation since completing the final session of the training course. It's unbelievable how much this has impacted my sales performance. I just wanted to say I'm grateful for the insights you provided on the sales course."
– Max B.

"Having attended literally 100's of speaking events throughout my career, Steve Hasenmueller is without a doubt the most dynamic gifted speaker I have ever encountered. He is witty, smart, and exceptionally inspiring."

Jeffrey Kurth,
Former President NSPI

